by Amanda Miller on SEPTEMBER 28, 2012 in ARTS & CULTURE, DANVILLE, FALL ACTIVITIES

Independent films. One historic theater. Popcorn making you salivate. Live entertainment.

Mark your culture calendar for the weekend of Oct. 5-7, because the second annual Film Festival of Hendricks County is approaching.

See independent short films in three genres

Independent short films selected by a panel of judges in three genres will be presented at the historic Royal Theater on the square in Danville, Ind., over Columbus Day weekend.

A wide variety of films will be screened, including ones created by students in Hendricks County, American filmmakers from Dubai and Egypt, and many in between. You'll have a chance to see documentaries, dramas, even musicals and comedies. (Families, be advised: Films are not rated and may not be suitable for all audiences.)

Tickets are just $5 each.

Two chances to see each film

The historic Royal Theater on the square in Danville has been serving moviegoers since 1927.
